1. Objectives

- a. To expose participants to innovative technologies in the Japanese rice industry to increase its productivity and sustainability, with the emphasis on smart rice farming with automation and digital technology;
- b. To learn about cost-effective, state-of-the-art postharvest rice operations and technologies that reduce losses, improve quality, and diversify products;
- c. To enhance sustainable productivity and competitiveness across rice value chains in member countries; and
- d. To develop suitable policies and strategies for future rice value chain systems and contribute to meeting the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), particularly SDG 1 (ending poverty in all its forms everywhere) and SDG 2 (focusing on ending hunger, achieving food security, improving nutrition, and promoting sustainable agriculture).

2. Background

Rice is the staple food of Asia, and over 90% of the world's rice is produced and consumed in Asian countries. Rice is also an important crop from the global food security point of view, as it is consumed by a majority of the world's poor. In order to feed the estimated population of 9.8 billion in 2050, the production of rice must keep pace with consumption growth. From Asia perspective, increasing the productivity throughout rice value chains is critical to meet the increasing food demand. Rice value chains are traditionally characterized by high physical and quality losses, food safety issues, limited coordination among stakeholders, lack of incentives for quality and product differentiation, and fragmented supply dominated by smallholders with low bargaining power and limited access to finance, services, and infrastructure. Although this is changing in some Asian countries, it remains dominant in many. Improvements in rice value chains can reduce losses, enhance value to participants, and improve the quality and variety of products offered to consumers. Such improvements are expected to contribute to lower poverty rates, increased nutrition and health, and more sustainable use of natural resources.

Future rice value chains will be the result of ongoing profound transformations, mainly due to rapid urbanization and increasing per capita consumption of rice among urban areas in Asia. Examples of such transformations are expanding opportunities through new market channels and adding value to products through processing, quality upgrading, and diversification of rice varieties, products, and by-products.

The postharvest loss rate of 3.5% to 25% is a critical issue in rice value chains in developing countries. This needs to be addressed by governmental interventions including appropriate policies that take future rice supply and demand into account and adopting smart technologies to decrease postharvest losses. Better decision-making on policies and innovations, along with prioritized targeting of technology adoption, can make future rice value chains more sustainable from the economic, social, and environmental points of view while expanding employment opportunities for smallholders, women, and youth in rice-based economies around the world.

All involved in rice value chains, from producers, agribusinesses, processors, and marketers to food service companies, retailers, and consumers can play a role in enhancing their productivity and sustainability. Some APO member countries such as the ROC, Japan, and the ROK have successfully adopted innovative agricultural and agribusiness models to increase productivity in rice. They have developed policies and institutional settings and undertaken innovative agricultural development programs focusing on building the capacity of small producers, agribusinesses, and food-processing SMEs. Such policies and programs include the provision of financial support to small farmers and SMEs for the adoption of advanced agricultural technologies such as precision/digital agriculture. This workshop will provide opportunities to learn about those experiences and other methods to increase the productivity of rice value chains and thereby contribute to SDGs in ending poverty and achieving food security.

7. Actions by Member Countries

- a. Each participating country is requested to nominate three or more candidates in the order of preference. Please ensure that candidates nominated meet the qualifications specified under the section Qualifications of Candidates above.
- b. No form of self-nomination will be accepted. All nominations must be endorsed and submitted by an APO Director, Alternative Director, Liaison Officer, or their designated officer.
- c. Please note that nomination of a candidate does not necessarily guarantee that he/she will be selected. Selection is at the discretion of the selection committee of the APO Secretariat. A basic criterion for selection is the homogeneity of the participants in terms of qualifications and work experience. Nonselection therefore does not mean that the candidates concerned are not competent enough. Sometimes candidates are not selected because they are overqualified for a project.
- d. Each nomination should be accompanied by the necessary documents. A nomination lacking any of these documents may not be considered: two copies of the candidate's biodata on the APO biodata form together with a passport-sized photograph. The biodata form can be downloaded from the APO website (www.apo-tokyo.org). We encourage submitting the biodata form to the APO Secretariat in electronic form as an attachment to a cover e-mail message from the APO Director, Alternate Director, or Liaison Officer. The nomination documents should be sent to the department in charge of this project.

- e. The APO Medical and Insurance Declaration/Certification Form. Every candidate must complete and submit a copy of the APO Medical and Insurance Declaration/Certification Form with his/her biodata at the time of nomination. Please note that self-declaration is sufficient for candidates without any of health conditions or illnesses listed on the reverse side of the medical form. However, for all others, medical certification by a licensed physician on the reverse side of the medical form is required.
- f. Necessary documents are to be submitted electronically. In that case, there is no need to send a hard copy by postal mail. However, if the documents are submitted by fax, member countries are requested to mail the originals of the documents to the APO Secretariat as well. If a digital photograph of a nominee is not attached to the electronic biodata form, a hard-copy photograph should be sent to the APO Secretariat by postal mail. Please give the candidate's name and the project code on the reverse side of the photograph.
- g. Member countries are requested to adhere to the nomination deadline given on page 1. The APO Secretariat may not consider late nominations as they have in the past resulted in considerable difficulties to the implementing organization in its preparatory work for the project.
- h. For member countries where nominations are required to be approved by higher government authorities and require a longer time, APO Liaison Officers/NPOs are urged to send the names of nominees on or before the deadline, indicating that government approval will follow.
- i. If a selected participant becomes unable to attend, he/she should inform the APO Liaison Officer/NPO in his/her country immediately and give the reason for withdrawal. The NPO concerned is requested to transmit that information to the APO Secretariat and the host country promptly.
- j. NPOs are requested to inform the selected participants that they are not to bring family members or to engage in any private business activities during the entire duration of the project.
- k. Each selected participant should be instructed to arrive at the venue one day before the start of the official project. Also, he/she is expected to return home upon completion of the official project because he/she is visiting the host country for the specific purpose of attending this APO project.
- l. NPOs should inform participants that they must attend the entire program of the project.
- m. NPOs should assist the APO and/or host country in collecting amounts corresponding to cancellation charges arising from withdrawal or no-show of a participant.

8. Actions by the APO Secretariat

- a. Under normal circumstances, candidates who are selected will be informed of their acceptance at least four weeks prior to the start of the project.
- b. If some candidates fail to qualify or be unable to participate after selection, or if some member countries fail to nominate any candidate, their slots may be filled by alternates from the same or another member country on a merit basis.

9. Project Preparation

The participants are required to prepare a short paper prior to departure for the project venue. In preparing the paper, they are expected to follow the "Guidelines for the Preparation of Country Papers" to be provided later.

10. Postproject Actions

All participants are required to prepare action plans and share the plans with their NPOs. The APO also requests participants to submit progress reports six months after completion of the project. In addition, participants taking part in training-of-trainers courses must also submit a report summarizing a training project that they conducted following the action plans to the APO and NPOs within six months after project completion.

11. Evaluation of Participants

If the conduct/attendance/performance of a participant is not satisfactory, these will be reported to the APO director concerned.

12. Guide for Participants

Other conditions for participation are given in the APO Guide for Participants, which is available from APO Liaison Officers/NPOs in member countries and on the APO website (www.apo-tokyo.org).

13. Dress Code

Participants are required to wear business attire during the project. Other instructions will be provided in the circular for participants.

Dr. AKP Mochtan
Secretary-General

POSTPROJECT ACTIVITY GUIDELINES

The follow-up actions by participants after project attendance determine the extent of multiplier effects (outcomes) of APO projects in member countries. The APO has therefore established an interdepartmental Participant Selection Committee to ensure selection of the most appropriate candidates. A key consideration is whether individuals are in a position, have the ability, and are willing to undertake follow-up actions after project attendance.

Each participant is required to undertake follow-up actions after attending an APO project based on his/her learning from it and report on those activities to the NPO of his/her country and the APO Secretariat, following the guidelines below:

Examples of Follow-up Activities

The examples below are suggestions and are not meant to limit participants' choices of follow-up actions:

- a. An official report on project attendance to participants' organizations, or NPOs, or both;
- b. Newspaper/magazine articles based on learning from the project;
- c. Application of knowledge, skills, techniques, or technologies for improving job performance and/or organizational capacity;
- d. Delivering a presentation or lecture on the project topic;
- e. Conducting a workshop/seminar/conference/forum on the project topic;
- f. Improving training/teaching/extension materials related to the project topic; and
- g. Sharing project findings with colleagues, professional groups, or others.
